PULLMAN ARTS COMMISSION (PAC) July 13, 2021 Uta Hutnak

The meeting was held by Ring Central

Members present:

John Rich

Brandon Burch

Joanna Bailey, ex officio

Lori Lewis, administrative liaison

Member excused:

D. Brady Boone

Others present:

Tim Fairbanks – Daily Evergreen

Thomas (?) – member of the public

Artwork Site Plan

John explored possible art places around town. Brandon also identifies places in the parks and around town suitable for the placement of Art. There is a site map online. John and Brandon will meet and finalize their suggestions and the recommendation will go to the City Council for approval.

Utility Box Wraps

PAC is still waiting for a quote from Allegra for the cost for each location before submission to City Council for final approval, including the PAC recommendations of the selected art work.

End Racism Mural

The City Council subcommittee is still working on the survey for the public. It has not been on the Council agenda since June. The City Council has to decide on the mural location before PAC can make any criteria suggestions.

There's an "Imagine" mural going up on the Mimosa wall facing west.

Other: The Bus Stop project is still sitting there; PAC was only involved in the design part. It's up to City Transit and City Finance to take the next steps.

There are 3 vacancies on the Pullman Arts Commission. According to the City website, any interested citizen may complete an application and submit it to the city. There's also general information about the PAC.
